

School of Continuing Education
Marketing

NEWS RELEASE

April 16, 2004

Issued by: Cathy Prescher, 414-227-3143 or cdp@uwm.edu

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

UWM COLLEGE FOR KIDS/COLLEGE FOR TEENS KEEPS KIDS CURIOSITY CULTIVATED THIS SUMMER

MILWAUKEE—Give your child an exceptional summer experience. There still are several openings in College for Kids classes for students currently in grades K5-8. College for Teens also offers classes for students entering ninth-twelfth grades.

All classes are for students with high academic potential, motivation and talent. Classes are at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee campus and enrollment is limited to 18 students per class. Classes meet Monday-Friday for one or two weeks between June 14-Aug. 13.

New features of this well regarded program offer parents valuable options. For children who are enrolled in multiple classes and parents who are trying to juggle work and other commitments, supervised care now is available before, supervised lunch and after the program day. Parents who have children enrolled in back-to-back classes for the two-week sessions also may sign up for a service to chaperone their children from one class to the next. Summer discounts also are available.

College for Kids/College for Teens is offered by the UWM School of Continuing Education.

Registration is taking place now. Call 414-227-3200 or 800-222-3623. For more information, visit www.sce-kids.uwm.edu or call UWM College for Kids, 414-227-3360.

Now, registration for summer classes has never been easier. Once you receive the College for Kids catalog or visit the website, select a class and it's just one phone call, fax or click away.

###